Foreword

Because of the cancellation of the mid-term graduating class, the necessity to publish two yearbooks during the school year is terminated. With this senior class is begun a new tradition of one yearbook to cover the full year of activities.

Since we, the staff of the EAST HIGH QUILL, want to give the student body the best possible in a yearbook, we have instituted a new layout design. By name it is called MOSAIC. It is the latest concept in yearbook design and makes possible larger pictures and more copy.

This QUILL will be your memory book for years to come. It is the book you will read to relive some of the happiest moments in your life. We hope that the spirit and tradition for which East is known will be reflected in the following pages.

With the close of this school year, Principal D. Q. Williams (Top Right) will retire after 40 years of service to East High School. He received his formal education from Cornell College (B.A.) and Columbia University (M.A.). He taught for four years at Boone, Iowa, and one year at Lisbon, Iowa, before coming to East.

(Top Left) Mr. Williams started his journey through the halls of EHS in 1924 as a physical education teacher. Advancing rapidly, he soon held the post of vice-principal; then, in 1954, he accepted the chief responsibility at East High School, and became principal.

Our principal has taken part in many outside activities. Among his accomplishments: EDM Kiwanis President and Lieutenant-Governor of the Iowa-Nebraska Kiwanis District. (Lower Left) While at East, Mr. Williams has celebrated many birthdays and has been a part of many school activities.

Duties at the Scarlet School are many for Mr. Williams. Making sure all classes operate smoothly, balancing classes at the beginning of the year, and supervising 1700 students and 70 faculty members are only a few of his varied duties.

A friendly smile, a helping hand always extended, the right word at the right time—these are the attributes of our principal. This is a small tribute for a big man who has served East High forty years. To him this book is affectionately dedicated.

45 Years—

"For the Service of Humanity"

Each day as Mr. Williams goes about his job, he is called upon to participate in many activities. Let us go with him through one of these days. In the morning (Top Left) often before he sheds his coat, he is called upon, here discussing a problem with his secretary, Mrs. Crout-hamel. (Top Center) Above all, Mr. Williams has an interest in students, always helping and keeping spirits high. (Center Left) He is always ready to help the teachers with their problems, such as Mr. Akerman and Mr. Perry or (Center Right) observing in teachers' classes. (Top Right) Then, after a busy day, Mr. Williams may be seen leaving his beloved school (Lower Right) to spend a quiet evening with Mrs. Williams.

Helpful Administration Aids East High

Students

(Left) Miss Nelson, the new girls' adviser, brightens East High's halls with her friendly smile and pleasing personality. She taught commercial subjects here at East before her present advisory position. Besides being responsible for the well being of the girls, she also has charge of all social activities.

(Right) In his second year as vice-principal, Mr. Cooper finds his biggest satisfaction is "working with the students." His main responsibility is advising some 750 boys. In addition, he gives his assistance to Mr. Williams in many capacities.

(Bottom Row, Left to Right): As library clerk, Mrs. Lancaster carries out the clerical duties of the library. Miss Berneking's chief duty is checking daily attendance. Taking charge of material that has to be typed for the faculty and handling bus transportation passes is the job of Mrs. Paul. Miss Nelson is shown performing one of her numerous tasks. Tim Stith is consulting with Mr. Cooper.

New Methods for Age-Old Subjects

(Right) Dan Taylor receives assistance from Mr. Goodwin with a math assignment. (Center Left) Instructing one of his biology classes in the surroundings of the new biology lab is Mr. Johnson. By the beginning of the fall semester the new lab for the physics department should also be completed. (Center Right) With the aid of Mr. Rathert, Anne Hasel and Jack Mohr conduct a physics experiment. (Bottom Left) Pictured with a snake which he and Mike Klinefeldt accidentally wounded while hunting, is Mike Topp. With the help of Mr. Hand, the boys performed a successful operation. (Bottom Right) With the aid of the overhead projector, Mr. Storer discusses math problems with his class. The material is magnified on the screen; this enables the teacher to observe the reactions of the students for understanding. The projector has proved very beneficial in the science department as well.

Understanding of Words

Commercial law teaches the student the importance of rules and regulations made up by authorities with the intent of enforcing justice and keeping peace. The basic concepts of law and the awareness of rights and responsibilities granted the citizen are taught in law class.

Learning to fasten stitches with a sewing machine is one of the many skills learned in homemaking class. This and many other techniques are taught to prepare a girl for running a well-organized household of her own.

Typing class is a necessity to future college students, as well as those who intend to use typing in a vocation.

Work Is Their Main Concern

(Top) Painting scenery for the spring play are Don Pinegar, Larry Heck, and Linda Wallace. (Left) The art of wood carving is taught by Miss Skarshaug to Juanita Johnson, Gail Jackson, and Sherry Huxford. (Right) Miss Skarshaug and Cindy Lindquist place pottery in kiln for a lasting finish.

East High's beautiful decorations during Christmas are furnished by students in the art department. Miss Lundberg, Miss Skarshaug, and students apply their skills in painting and drawing scenery for the fall and spring plays, and for the Synchronettes' show.

The art department has tried something quite different this year. They are weaving rugs in an unusual design pattern.

Student Artists Exhibit Talents

(Upper Left) Mr. Tannatt points out to Doug Hemer and Jeannie Kirkwood the use of a map. (Upper Right) Miss Brewer is helping Kelly Chamberlain to fill out a program. She is one of seven counselors. (Center) Girls exercise to firm stomach muscles and to better figures. (Right) Boys' swimming classes build many skills during the year.

East High's swimming and gym classes emphasize physical fitness for students.

Counselors help students decide what is best for them during coming years. Pupils often enroll in history to further their acknowledgment of past and present accomplishments, as a key to understanding the future.

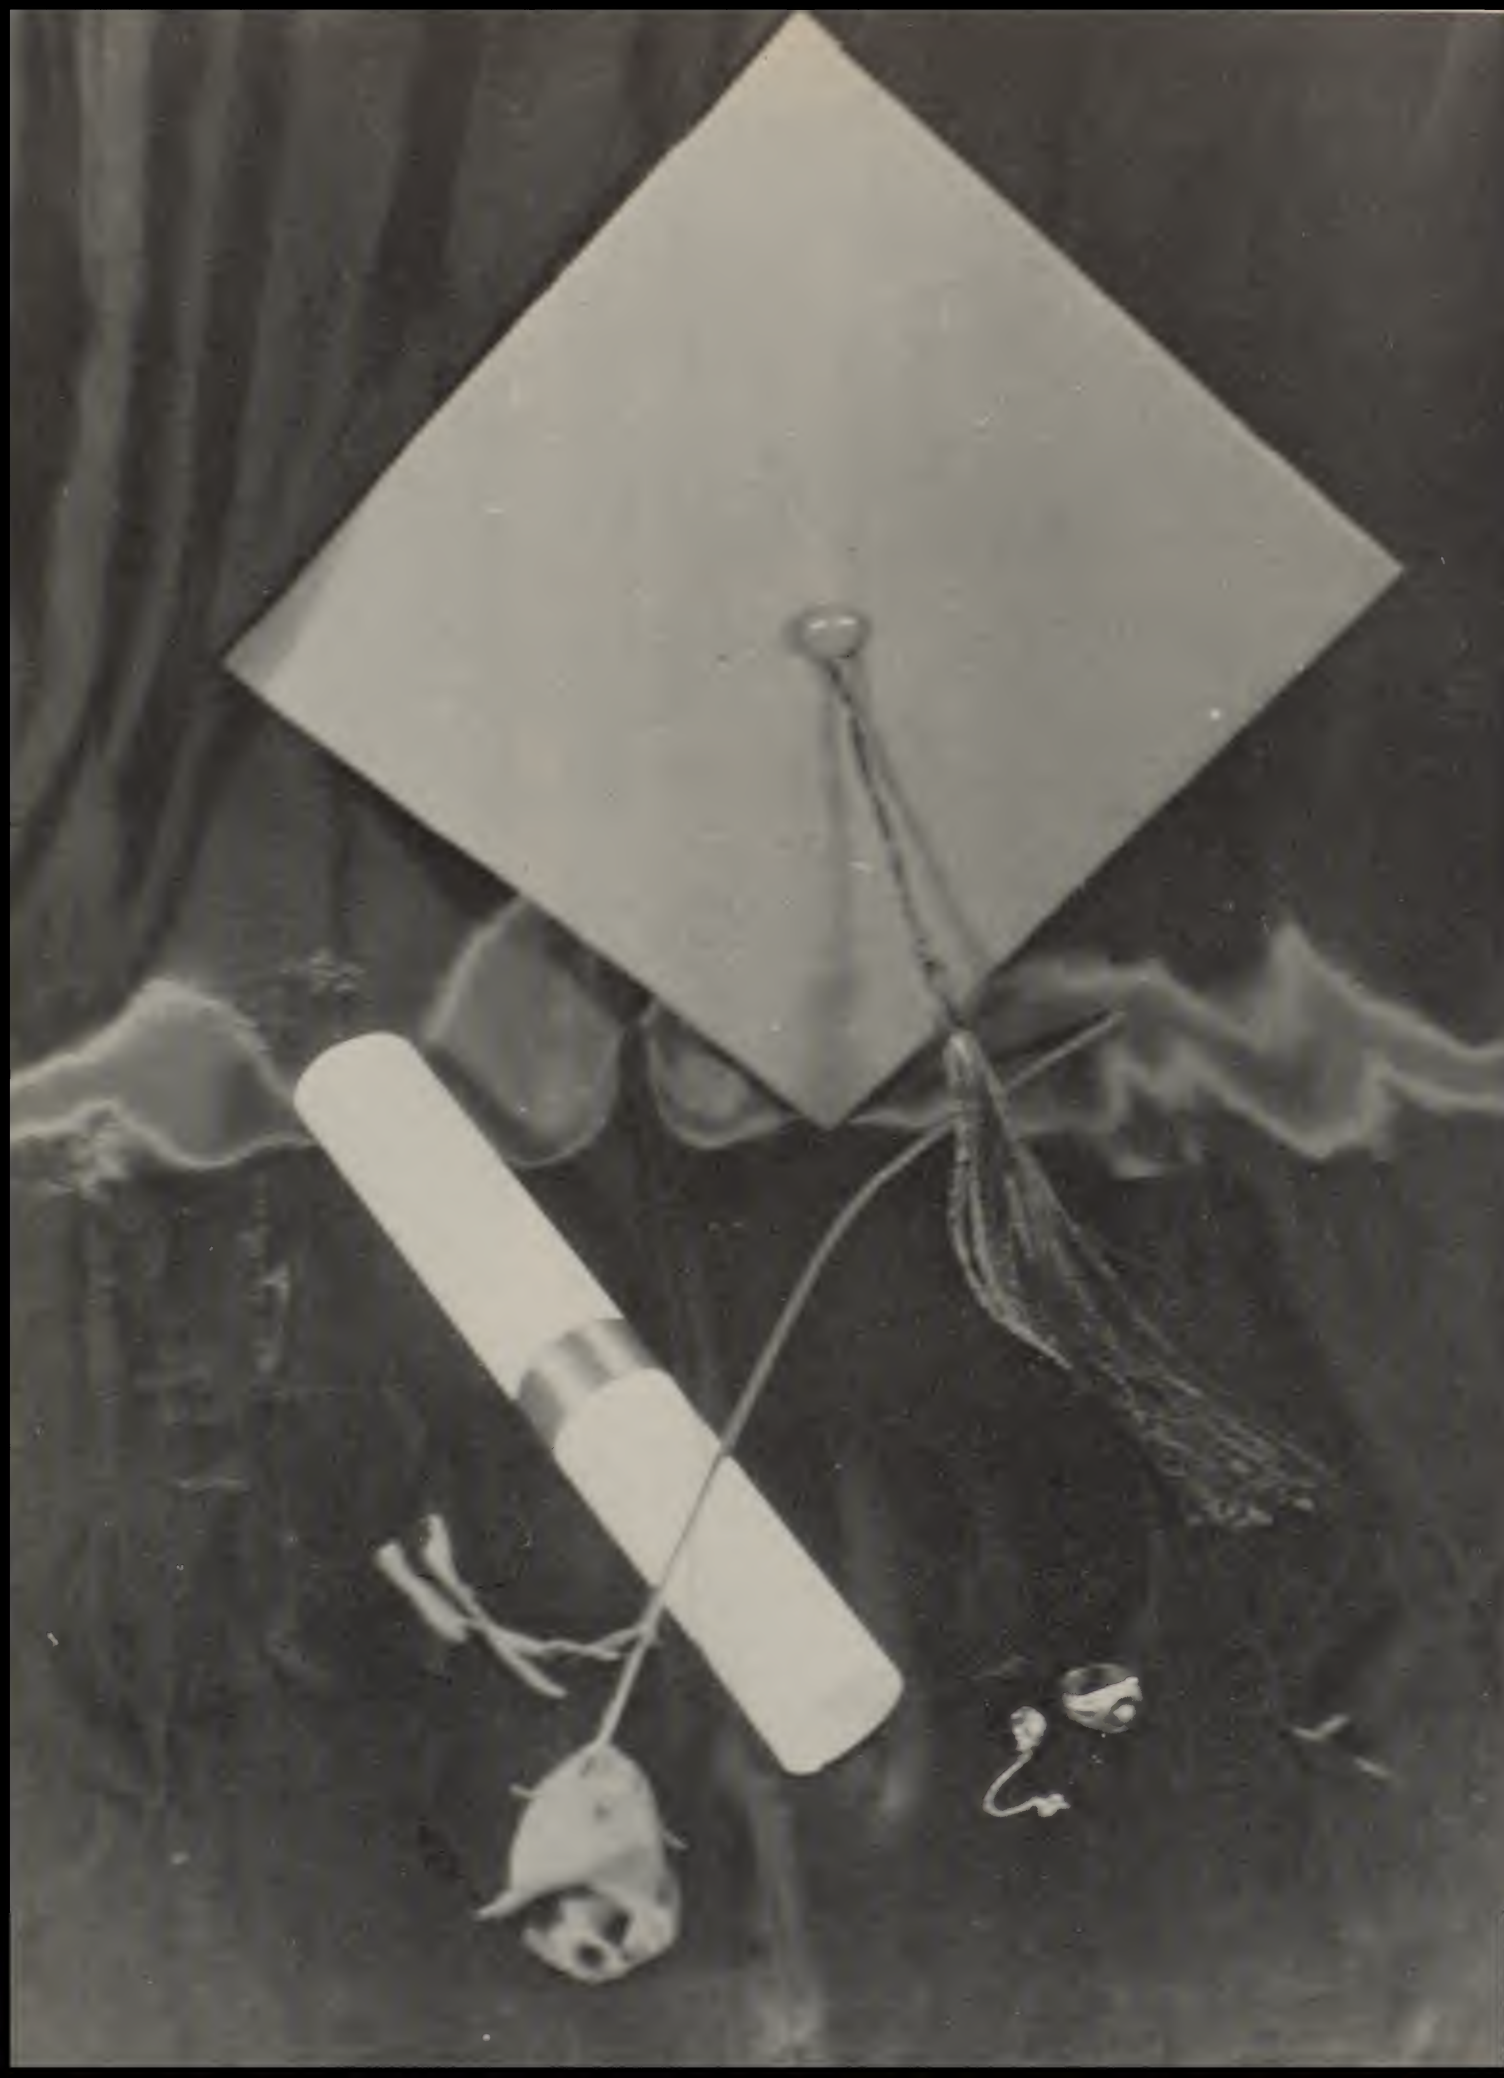

Shop Classes Active

East's shop department opens many opportunities to students. In woodshop, profitable training as well as a leisure-time activity can be created. Metal shop and mechanical drawing give students foresight in using and designing machinery in projects. Boys often enroll in auto mechanics to learn the function and care of automobiles. Many of them have had supplementary television classes in drivers' education.

Wrestlers Take Title

In spite of outstanding opposition, the East High wrestling team had a triumphant season. The Scarlets took first place in the city with a 7-1 record. Competition in the Big Six proved keener and, although fighting hard, the East High grapplers posted only one victory against four losses, an 8-5 record over all.

There are many exceptionally good boys on the team this season. Among them are Jim Day and Don Alm, who both qualified to advance to state competition in Cedar Falls.

The Quill has undergone an overhauling! This year's book is bigger and better. Co-Editors Susie Eaton and Doran Morford learned most of the new ideas from the Journalism Workshop they attended last summer in Iowa City. The entire layout is in mosaic form, which is new. All pictures have an explanatory sentence. The key word in writing this copy is continuity. (Bottom Left) Copy Editor, Mary Fowler; Layout Editor, Judy Holmes; Picture Editor, Donna Blanquart—all on the fall staff—make last-minute changes in the layout of the Quill. (Bottom Right) Donna Smith (standing), Copy Editor; Mary Engwall, Layout Editor; Larry Scott, Picture Editor; and Judy McCormack, Copy Editor of the senior section—all on the spring staff—look over a new batch of pictures. Another new student in the front row!

Dear Diary,

At one o'clock this afternoon a bell rang and we were dismissed from class to join the alumni at our annual Alumni Assembly. "How The East Was Won," was the theme for our root'n-toot'n assembly.

As Mitigwa dancers set the mood with the pounding of drums, the show commenced.

"Good-Guy" Steve Gleason, welcomed the alumni and introduced the Governor of this territory, Mr. Duke Williams (East High principal).

Mr. Wally Lundgren served as a "Matt Dillon" type marshal. Of course, where Marshal Dillon is, there Chester is also. While the band played "Gunsmoke," Chester appeared in the form of our own Dave Myers.

After some "Bad Guys" (Tech players) were disposed of, various musical groups rendered war cries. The reigning queen, Miss Sally Peterson, was introduced and escorted to her throne.

Cheerleading squaws led war cries and more Bad Guys were scalped.

On your mark! Get set! Go!

Dear Diary,

This morning our cafeteria became a rocket ship with blast-off time for our first senior activity, the Senior Breakfast, scheduled at 7:15 a.m.

Astronauts need a nourishing breakfast, and so blast-off time was delayed while a menu of album of protein, protein tubes, citric acid or diluted citric acid, heated carbohydrate, and hot or cold liquid lactose was served to some mighty hungry senior astronauts.

Our guides through outer space, the Senior Board, were introduced and the countdown started. "Five," a quintet including Jaquita Robinson, Lynda Hunt, GeVerna LaMar, Jo Ann Henderson, and Michele Downey, presented a skit depicting a girl and boy in love asking her parents for permission to marry, but not in our present-day language. You see, they spoke in the letters of the alphabet, such as ABCD-QWYZ, and didn't make them into words.

At the count of "One," David Nettleton played a trombone solo.

"Blast-off," our rocket ship, took off with great force. The strains of "Dear East High" could still be heard above the rocket's roar, as we anxiously await the landing on the planet "Spinster Spree," which our rocket ship should reach in 123 days.

Dear Diary,

Today E.H.S. students honored our two "Big Teams" in a victory assembly, held in the boys' gym. Forming the letters "E.H.S." on the bleachers, the senior Scarlet Steppers dressed in red, and the underclassmen dressed in black. As everyone sang the fight song, the "Big Team" walked through a "V" sign and took its place on the bleachers.

Mr. Walter Thompson, a former quarterback at East, told a cheering crowd how Roosevelt High School was defeated 65-0 by the Mighty Scarlets in 1928!

Next, Iowa Supreme Court Judge C. Edwin Moore, an alumnus, commended our student body for its fine conduct during and after football games.

Then our football coach, Mr. Savage, and our cross country coach, Mr. Oxenreider, awarded monograms to deserving boys on their teams.

Door prizes, furnished by the school, numbered many. Among them were a transistor radio, a football blanket, a girl's charm bracelet, and a senior '64 class pin. Each student was given a ticket in homeroom with a number on it. We all held our breath as the cheerleaders pulled corresponding

There was no need to be disappointed if your number wasn't called, for the same ticket entitled everyone to free refreshments and gave admittance to a dance held in the girls' gym and student center.

All in all, diary, it was a perfect end to our football season, which gave us the honor of being "Big 6" Champions and sharing first place in the City Series with Lincoln High School.

Dear Diary,

Tonight East had the honor of being host of the annual Basketball Jamboree. Our guests were North, Lincoln, Tech, and Roosevelt High Schools. We left early for this game and we're glad we did, for there was an estimated crowd of 3,400 fans. Our Pep Club looked especially "cheerish" in their section with their crisp white blouses with red and black "Go" tags pinned on.

Each team played two quarters, North defeated Lincoln by a margin of 31-21. Dowling won over Tech 32-23.

This was the first basketball game at East for Mr. Sandquist, our new basketball coach. "Sandquist's Mighty Tribe" came through tonight as they beat Roosevelt by a slim margin of 32-31.

The Basketball Jamboree serves as a preview of the season for all Des Moines teams. It also helps develop spirit among the schools.

It looks like a very promising season for East High School, diary, as Coach Sandquist said, "If hard work and desire mean success, we will have a successful season."

Dear Diary,

Tonight I walked down a "Street of Dreams" along with all who attended the annual 12-B Formal.

As the hour of 7 p.m. approached, we arrived at the Hotel Fort Des Moines for the coketail party preceding the formal, everyone looked very handsome (or beautiful as the case may be) going up the long, winding stairway to the beautiful Grand Ballroom.

Coketails and other refreshments of nuts and mints were served, as we listened to the musical background provided by Don Hoy and his orchestra. Colored pictures were also taken so all the girls could have a photo to remember this special occasion.

Where does education end?

Everybody knows
where education begins.

It begins with that first hungry search for nourishment, and it goes on through that first word and that first step and that first painful punch in the nose.

It grows taller
as it grows familiar with letters and numbers
and names of things
and names of places, and answers increasingly more who's and what's and where's and why's and how's.

Everybody knows
where education begins, but nobody knows where education ends —
especially yours,
except you.

And where your education ends depends mostly on you and how well you want to be able to answer questions like these — plus one more question, too, asked ever so frequently — “What can you do for me?”

November 27, 1963

Dear Diary,

This morning our traditional Thanksgiving assembly was held, but it was accented by a strange, unfamiliar atmosphere—an atmosphere of mourning. Five days have passed since the cruel assassination of President Kennedy; and we were all made aware of this by the solemn portrait of our slain leader, framed in black, and the American flag draped in black.

The assembly was opened with a brass quintet playing "Sonata for Brass Quintet." As the music flowed through the auditorium, we all felt the notes penetrating our hearts. A quiet existed, to a point beyond our auditorium. Everyone had a feeling of deep remorse as we thought of an admired one removed.

The mistress of ceremonies, Joan Thornton, read a poem about Thanksgiving. Then she introduced the Girls' Glee Club, who sang "As Torrents in Summer."

Although he had prepared a sermon, Reverend Basil Grimes discarded it in order to bring to us memories of our late President and to remind us that we still have many things to be thankful for.

At the close of this assembly, the Girls' Glee Club sang "Land of Hope and Glory," followed by a benediction.

We are learning, diary, that the world must go on in spite of sad and tragic happenings. We realize, too, that these things can and do happen in the most modern and seemingly perfect nations. At a time such as this, it is extremely important that we remember our blessings and show our thankfulness.

Dear Diary,

Once again the Christmas season came upon us, and today we at East observed the true and beautiful story of the first Christmas. Everyone was in a reverent mood, as we sat in the darkened auditorium awaiting the choir's procession down the aisles.

In seconds the choir's voices rang out with "O Come All Ye Faithful." Dressed in dark robes with white collars, the choir carried small lights as they assumed their places in front of the stage.

And now, fellas, this is the engine.

The two readers began retelling the age-old story of the birth of Christ. We watched silently as the Angel Gabriel appeared to Mary. In another scene Mary and Joseph were beside the manger as a choir of angels, with their heads toward Heaven, brightened the stage. The first visitors to the manger were the shepherds followed by the three wise men in the closing scene, with their gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

While scenes were being changed the choir sang many of our favorite Christmas carols, including "The Little Drummer Boy," with its familiar bass "pa rum pum pum pum."

Did you know, diary, that this is the thirty-seventh annual presentation of the Nativity at East? When it was first presented, there was no thought of repeating it through the years; and now it has become one of our strongest traditions.

Today's assembly will also be presented tomorrow night for P.T.A. members, alumni, and friends of East. We are sure they will have the same feeling of peace on earth, good will to men as we did when they attend the Nativity; and with the singing choir's recessional, the cares and anxieties of the world will temporarily be put aside in their minds.

Dear Diary,

As boys were ushered feminine style into a calm jungle setting, others were still struggling with their corsages.

The annual "Spinster Spree" started with a roar at eight o'clock. Polaroid snap-shots were taken of almost every "Beauty and Beast" at the "Hut Sweet Hut." Many Scarlets nearly lost their lives to the clutches of the man-eating plant.

Teri McFarlane, mistress of ceremonies, asked for ten boys and escorts to line up facing the audience. The girls stood behind the boys while Teri asked the boys what apparel their dates had on. Boys, being typical, had a difficult time remembering.

Carol Short (the boy) and Pat Dewick (the girl) gave their version of how a girl snares a boy into going to the "Spinster Spree" with her. The name of the skit was "Turnabout," as the girls ask boys.

Like pencils,

Drake students are not all alike. Some come from big cities, others from small towns. Some are from the East Coast, others from California. Some are from as near as Des Moines, others from as far away as Hong Kong. Some are rich, others of relatively modest means. Some want to become teachers, others lawyers, still others businessmen. Some are Republicans, others are Democrats. Drake students differ in many respects, but they share a common bond: the desire for an education. They are preparing themselves for careers while gaining insight into the problems confronting today's world. We would be pleased to answer your questions about our study programs.

DRAKE UNIVERSITY

Jungle animals, along with other observers, screamed their delight as the "Beatlettes" stormed rhythmic beats on drums and stringed instruments. Joyce Davis, Pam Weiss, Pam McMurray, and Ruth Richards seemed to enjoy giving their routine as much as we did absorbing their performance.

Joan Thornton was quite willing to give her whole self for "A Lady For President." She enthusiastically told us all of her qualifications.

The moment had arrived—all boys eagerly lined up awaiting the corsage judging. As the faculty made their march along the row of boys, girls hopefully anticipated the result.

Awards were given to Mary Fowler and Larry Heck for the cleverest corsage. The corsage which fit the theme belonged to Nancy Webb and Don Smith. Judy Hartman and Clint Vonk got the award for the most original corsage. The judges all agreed it was difficult to judge from such a large choice of beautiful corsages.

With a rush, students headed for the lobby for refreshments of mints, cake, nuts, and strawberry punch.

The party spirit lingered on as the girls escorted the boys out to eat and then home.

After we had finished our dinner Robert Hensler also gave us a very warm greeting. After his son Robert had finished, Mr. Robert S. Hensler gave a response.

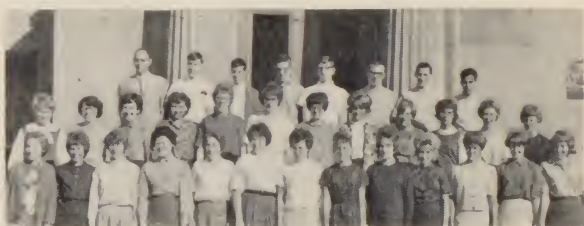

Larry Young, Denny York, Ron Burnet, and Steve Gleason gave us a very funny skit to the song of "April Flowers." The boys were dressed very appropriately for the rain with their large boots and umbrellas. Their accompanist on the piano was Karon Kurschinski.

These are four of the faculty East hired last week.

Dear Diary,

"Senior Fair '64" was the theme for this year's Specialty Party. Streamers of purple and gold decorated the "World Fair" atmosphere. A large foil globe hung from the ceiling. A ring toss in one corner added to our enjoyment.

The master and mistress of ceremonies, Herb Larsen and Barb Berggren, introduced a skit, "Who's Afraid of Birnam Wood." It was a very successful and funny parody on Macbeth. Completing the program was a folk-singing group—Rosemary Nicolle, Lynda Lawler, Becky Mills, Mary Ann Diercks, and Stevie Berlovich.

Prizes were won by "mecuricombed scared" Don Alm who came as "Al Capone" and beautiful Joe Hill, who was Capone's attractive girl friend. Judges selected them for the cleverest costumes. Some of the other guests came as clowns, hillbillies, Indians, and Martians.

Refreshments were free potato chips and pop. Those who were lucky got a balloon with "Senior Specialty Party, 1964" on it.

The Specialty Party was a fun-filled event from eight to eleven with 120 seniors attending.

All seniors are anxiously awaiting the next major event, the Junior-Senior Prom, only 14 days away.

CONSIDER... A CAREER ...NOT A JOB

When looking ahead to your business life, you want to think beyond just a job. Consider the kind of business career you want and judge the qualities of the company which is a part of that business. Life Insurance is a good business and the Equitable Life of Iowa is a good company — offering so many opportunities for the career man or woman.

Look into the Equitable, and you'll find all of the so-called fringe benefits offered by business generally, plus some that only Equitable has for you. Most importantly, there are so many phases of life insurance work that your opportunities for advancement and permanency are limited only by your own ability. In the Personnel Office, 1105 Equitable Building, you'll find Miss Pat Bush — discuss with her all the opportunities that exist for you at the Equitable — you may choose your career right now.
